

MAGGIE CRIQUI

For me, design is a change agent through which I strive to make a positive social impact.

EDUCATION

MS Human Computer Interaction Design, Indiana University
Sept. 2015- May 2017(expected), Bloomington, IN

BA International Affairs, George Washington University
Sept. 2007- May 2011 Washington, DC
Minor Anthropology, Graduated with Special Honors

EXPERIENCE

Associate Instructor, INFO 120: Intro to Python
Sept. 2015- Present, Bloomington, IN

Lead labs and group activities in class of 70 undergraduate students. Manage two Undergraduate Instructors.

Promoting Inclusivity in Tech (PIT) Crew Member, Indiana University
Sept. 2015- Present, Bloomington

Create and deliver workshops for Associate Instructors, Faculty and Staff on uncovering unconscious bias and how it can undermine the workplace.

Event Manager, IBM Institute for Electronic Government
Oct. 2012- Aug. 2015, Washington, DC

Understood client requirements to plan and facilitate daily client briefings bringing together key stakeholders from throughout the company in line with strategic business objectives.

Briefing Center Coordinator, IBM Institute for Electronic Government
July 2011- Oct. 2012, Washington, DC

Coordinate logistics for all of center's domestic client briefings.

PROJECTS

Firefighter School Project, Interaction Design Methods Class
Oct. 2015- Nov. 2015, Bloomington, IN

Facilitated group of four graduate students tasked with designing for the Bloomington Fire Department as a school project. Conducted interviews and usability testing with Bloomington firefighters.

Hear Me Code, Student turned Teacher
Jan. 2014- Aug. 2015, Washington, DC

Python student turned teacher in this organization offering free, beginner friendly coding classes to women.

SKILLS

CSS, HTML, Illustrator, InDesign, Python, Sketch

METHODS

Affinity Diagramming, Idea Iteration, Interview, Personas, Sketching, Storytelling, Usability Testing, Wireframing

CONTACT

maggie.criqui@gmail.com, 201-463-8287